University's progress against SDG4: Quality Education

Quality education is the University's core purpose, and it works at it through its quality-assurance system: NAAC, NBA and NIRF processes and ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 21001:2018 certification.

Programmes follow an outcome-based education curriculum applied across the schools, and curricula are revised regularly so that programmes stay aligned with industry and with learning outcomes.

Faculty qualification and development follow UGC norms, and programme design includes internship and placement components with industry. Accreditation preparation and maintenance, curriculum revision by the Boards of Studies and faculty development programmes are carried out every year.

The NAAC, NBA and NIRF accreditation reports, ISO certification records, Board of Studies curriculum-revision minutes and faculty development programme records are attached.
