University as a body provide students access to sexual and reproductive health-care services including information and education services

Year 2024-25

SDG-3	GOOD HEALTH AND WELL-BEING
University as a body provide students access to sexual and reproductive health-care services including information and education services

Students can get sexual and reproductive health care and information through the campus Health Centre. Where specialist advice or treatment is needed, they are referred to the affiliated Homoeopathic and Ayurvedic hospital units or to other qualified practitioners.

The Health Centre's list of services sets out the sexual and reproductive health care it provides and the education and counselling it offers, covering matters such as menstrual health and hygiene, reproductive health, prevention of sexually transmitted infections and personal hygiene. Students who use these services are entered in a counselling and attendance register, which is kept confidential.

A circular states whether each service is free or charged. The service list, the register and the fee circular are attached.

DOCUMENTS REQUIRED

- ✓ Health Centre/clinic list of services, showing sexual and reproductive health-care services and the education and counselling offered
- ✓ Counselling/attendance register for sexual and reproductive health services (student identities masked)
- ✓ Fee structure (free/charged) notification or circular
