University as a body have accessible childcare facilities for students which allow recent mothers to attend university courses

Student mothers are supported mainly through academic accommodation. A student mother can approach the Dean of Student Affairs or her School's academic coordinator and arrange flexible attendance and assessment scheduling, with the course faculty informed, so that a new baby does not force her to leave the course.

The campus Health Centre and the affiliated Homoeopathic and Ayurvedic hospital units are available for maternal and infant health needs. Most undergraduate students live on campus, so student parents are few, and those most likely to need this support are in postgraduate, doctoral or in-service programmes such as Management Studies and Law.

The University does not at present run a separate crèche for students, and the need for one is reviewed as the number of student parents changes. The documents attached are listed below.

DOCUMENTS REQUIRED

- ✓ Crèche/childcare facility registration or infrastructure proof (to be attached only if a crèche or childcare facility is available for students)
- ✓ Dean of Student Affairs record of academic accommodation given to student mothers, and Health Centre service availability documentation
